ACSI

As you may know, Meadowbrook was accredited by the Association of Christian Schools International (and Middle States Association) in December of 2013. This year our school is up for re-accreditation, with a visiting team scheduled to be on campus October 4-7. This is in conjunction with an extensive self-study that was completed this past year by the school. This team of five leaders from other Christian schools will be visiting classrooms, observing procedures, and meeting with staff/faculty, school board, parents, and students during these days. The result will be reaccreditation for another seven years, as well as several recommendations for us as school moving forward that will be incorporated into our long-term strategic plan.

Did you know?

The Middle School and High School Dimensions Program exists to both equip students with life and career skills that will benefit them in the future, and to engage quality community volunteers with our student body. This program is designed to give students unique opportunities not typically offered in core classes. The first semester we will have offered Praise and Worship Arts, Project Safety, Worship Technology Basketball fundamentals, Photography and Knapping.

We are excited to have MCS Alumni Mya Williams presenting the basics of photography. Mya has used her Photography skills in the mission field and is excited to share this talent and passion with our students. Jacob Snyder also an MCS Alumni is presenting how to shape glass into jewelry and tools through the art of knapping. Knapping is the shaping of certain materials like glass, obsidian, and flint with various hand tools. Students are learning how primitive man, first made stone tools and how this technology has evolved into the modern age.
